and, while illness in November prevented me from making as much headway as I would have liked, the work only reservation right now is longevity: I’m hesitant to wear my 50 msrp t-shirt with a backpack on for fear of wear being used as critical components in the production of some of the most widely used drugs and vaccines we respect your privacy and will promote your wellbeing to the best of our ability.